Today, In the morning, we visited Hiroshima University Fukuyama Highschool. In the afternoon, they did lesson study.

They visited the high school and observed two English classes. The First class was Junior high school students, and the Second one was high school students. In the first class, students tried to explain what kinds of Japanese words and expressions were difficult to understand for foreigners. In the second class, students tried to have a conversation about the contents of the textbook with the partner logically. Trainees observed how students had a conversation in English and learn English.

After visiting school, they came back to CICE room. Ms. Shindo explained how Japanese teachers discussed the class they had observed in the lesson study in Hiroshima. And trainees discussed the class they had observed in this morning by using a Japanese method. They were confused by the method at the first step, but they gradually discussed them deeply and formed an opinion as a group. They had discussion from perspectives of teacher & student's attitudes, teaching materials, and so on.

It was the last day of training in Hiroshima for trainees. They will take the fruitful training in Tokyo also.
